

Guidelines for Masonic Websites

Prepared by SGRAC Information and Communications Committee

Introduction:

There has been a dramatic increase in the use of electronic communication which is fast becoming the preferred method of general and targeted communication. Likewise more and more Chapters, Provincial and District Grand Chapters are creating an internet presence by designing and publishing their own Websites.

The Supreme Grand Chapter of Scotland welcomes and encourages the use of this technology, but considers that it is now opportune to set out policies and guidelines on electronic communication and Website content standards in order to encourage consistency, accuracy, and a united direction of purpose.

The creation of Websites dedicated to Scottish Royal Arch Freemasonry is a significant means of demonstrating the unique nature of Scottish Freemasonry thereby implementing the Internet's full potential to communicate and enhance the image of the Scottish Royal Arch Degrees, while at the same time preserving ancient usages, established customs and Landmarks.

Freemasonry is the world's oldest secular fraternal society, with members spread throughout the world. It is therefore entirely fitting that such an Institution should have international representation. The worldwide Web allows Freemasons to be represented internationally and, with proper use, can be a major and effective tool in the process of better informing the public about Freemasonry.

The lack of control over access to and placing of information on the Internet may cause problems. It is with this in mind that this Internet Code of Practice is published. It is emphasised however that individual Chapters, Provincial and District Grand Chapters who have already constructed and published Websites should strive to retain their unique nature while adhering to the following Guidelines:

Code of Practice for Masonic Websites

Creation of Websites

Websites may only be created by decision of the Chapter, Provincial or District Grand Chapter concerned and such decision must be recorded in the relevant Minutes. The Website must only focus on the relevant Chapter, Provincial or District Grand Chapter, and should be centred on its own events.

In order to create a worldwide acceptable standard, Supreme Chapter Information and Communications Committee structured a set of guidelines for creating and maintaining websites under the jurisdiction of Supreme Grand Chapter. Chapters, Provincial and District Grand Chapters are expected to adhere to these guidelines at all times. If there is any uncertainty about any relevant points, your query should be forwarded to webmaster@supgrac.com and will then be reviewed by the information and communications committee.

General Guidelines for Creating and Maintaining Websites:

1. Guest-books: Guest-books and Comments pages are generally not recommended, as there is little or no control over possible inflammatory comments. In some reported cases hackers used the guestbook to hack a website. Remember that guestbook's are generally created by others and do not necessarily contain all the safety features and regular updates needed for blocking malicious software.

2. Site rings: The general use of site rings is not recommended as there is no control over websites (and links) that belong to a site ring. A recommended site ring that can be freely used will be found on SGRAC Website. This web ring promotes the Royal Arch, Royal Ark Mariner and Cryptic Degrees in particular.
3. Advertising: NO private or commercial advertising will be allowed on any Royal Arch website whatsoever.
4. Photos: NO photos of any individual or group may be posted on a website without written permission of such a person or persons. Photos should generally not be larger (In pixels) than 50 kb in size as this could slow down the loading of your webpage dramatically, and could create irritation for visitors. There are various programs available e.g. PHOTOSHOP, to reduce the size (pixels) of photos.
5. Telephone Numbers and Addresses: Telephone numbers and addresses of Office Bearers/individuals may not be posted on any website without their written permission to do so.
6. Minutes: No Minutes, Ballots or attendance register may be posted on any website.
7. Fundraising: Only Masonic fundraising activities will be allowed on websites.
8. Private Websites: NO links to any private websites are allowed. Other external links to Provinces/Districts and other Constitutions etc. should be forwarded to the Information and Communication Committee, via the webmaster link on SGRAC website, for consideration.
9. Link to SGRAC: All websites are expected to post a link to Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter on the MAIN page.
10. Links: Links should consist of two colours only. Blue for link colour, and purple for links just visited. This will assist visitors when browsing your website. Avoid links to pages stating "under construction" as this could be irritable to visitors.
11. Colours: Only the official SGRAC Colours should be used on all websites, and not a variety of assorted colours.
12. Free Hosting: Endeavour to refrain from so-called free web hosting services as you don't have any control over the type of advertising from your host. This advertising is normally in the form of pop-ups on your page.

Content of the SGRAC Website may NOT be reproduced on any website. Chapters, Provincial / District Grand Chapters may post a link to SGRAC website for any relevant information.

The use of the SGRAC and Grand Lodge Logo's is strictly forbidden. It may not be reproduced on any website, either as a graphic or as a page background. It may not be used as a link to surf to SGRAC or Grand Lodge.

Only links to Provincial and District Grand Chapters will upon request, be posted on SGRAC website. (Request posted to The Webmaster on the SGRAC website)

Links of Chapters must be posted on their own Provincial/District Grand Chapter websites, and such a Provincial/District Grand Chapter will assume responsibility for the same.

Districts and Chapters should obtain their own logos (identity) and ensure that the logo quality is of an acceptable standard. Remember what you post on your website is what the public will see!

Any other special requests must be forwarded to the webmaster on the SGRAC website who will forward such requests to the Information and Communication Committee.
